MARKET COMMENTARY

Equity investors could not have asked for a better start to 2019. All major equity indices appreciated more than ten percent in the opening quarter, and the Federal Reserve, after raising rates four times in 2018, indicated it is unlikely to raise rates at all in 2019. The paradox of market gains against a skeptical global economic backdrop is currently serving as the ideal elixir for market advancement. In the Russell 2000® Growth index, all sectors generated positive returns during the first quarter, led by the Information Technology sector. Returns in the Energy and Real Estate sectors also outpaced the broader index. Consumer Staples was the small cap index's worst performing sector, but still advanced more than seven percent.

PORTFOLIO COMMENTARY

The Riverbridge Small Cap Growth strategy generated a strong absolute return in the first quarter, advancing nearly 16 percent but slightly lagging its primary benchmark, the Russell 2000® Growth. After contributing meaningfully to relative performance in 4Q 2018, stock selection in the Health Care and Industrials sectors dragged on relative performance in the first quarter. Information Technology was the strategy's best performing sector for both absolute and relative returns.

The past two quarters seem to have jolted investors out of a sense of complacency which settled in during a historically long and docile bull market. Despite the strong start to the year, investors do not appear to be overly optimistic; according to Lipper, equity investors made rather large redemptions during the first quarter of 2019. These short-term oriented investors missed the strong start to the year while also failing to avoid the double-digit declines of the fourth quarter of 2018. In the face of volatility, investors with higher degrees of conviction and patience are generally rewarded. Riverbridge clients were well served by staying the course throughout the turbulence of the past six months.

Riverbridge's consistent performance patterns emanate from an unwavering commitment to investing in high quality companies that meet our timeless investment criteria. Our investment team seeks businesses delivering consistent and sustainable unit growth thanks to a strategic advantage in their marketplace. In our experience, such companies can build their earnings power and intrinsic value at above-average rates regardless of the broader economic environment. Over the course of a full market cycle, owning companies which grow their earnings power faster than their peers has proven to produce portfolios which generate impressive absolute and relative returns.

The Information Technology holdings in our Small Cap Growth portfolio tend to be quintessential examples of strategically positioned companies. Many are helping other businesses operate more efficiently by digitizing or automating outdated workflows, an extremely attractive value proposition in many environments but especially in a tight labor market.

For instance, BlackLine, Inc. (BL) is a cloud-based software platform modernizing processes within its customer's finance and accounting departments.

Traditional accounting systems have not historically addressed workflows outside a company's general ledger, leaving many finance and accounting tasks to be conducted on manual, labor intensive, and error-prone spreadsheets. BL's modern solution increases efficiency and accuracy through process automation and real-time visibility into processes such as account reconciliations and the financial close.

At first glance, BL might appear to be competing with large Enterprise Resource Planning (ERP) platforms such as SAP and Oracle which include accounting and finance modules. Instead, BL carved out a niche with a solution ERP systems don't cover and successfully sold into most major ERP suites due to the high value derived by its customers. In fact, in 2018 BL entered a new sales agreement with SAP under which BL's modules are fully integrated and sold as part of SAP's overall solution.

BL is just beginning to penetrate this $18 billion end-market, but with its best-in-class software, commitment to R&D, and strong partnerships with SAP, large consulting firms, and business process outsourcing service providers, it is strategically positioned for sustainable long-term growth.

OUTLOOK

Corporate profit growth is expected to decelerate in 2019. However, according to FactSet, profits should still grow mid-single digits for the full year. Though trade tensions remain, optimism does exist that the United States and China will ultimately reach some type of trade deal.

The Riverbridge investment team remains resolute in seeking differentiated companies with enduring strategic market positions. Given the tight labor markets, an area of strength is our business services companies. Many of our portfolio companies seek to enable their customers to operate more efficiently. From a customer perspective, this allows for continued growth even in challenging labor markets. These types of companies feature high degrees of recurring revenue and are difficult to displace. In general, our portfolio companies remain well positioned to thrive in the current global economic landscape.

From a broader perspective, the present mix of optimism and skepticism may continue to be a good balance for long-term investors. Investor skepticism serves to prevent equity valuations from becoming extreme and causing highly volatile market swings. Respectable corporate earnings growth, modest inflation and an accommodative Federal Reserve provide solid underpinnings for continued market advancement.

Firm Information: Riverbridge Partners, LLC is a Minnesota based investment advisor registered with the Securities and Exchange Commission under the Investment Advisors Act of 1940. The firm provides investment management services to institutional and individual investors. The company offers growth-oriented investment services by investing in growth equity securities, which it believes will provide high returns over the long term. The firm's standard fee schedule is an annual 1%.

Composite Characteristics: The Small Cap Growth Composite was created in July 1988. It is a growth stock portfolio invested in small to medium sized growth companies. This strategy generally invests in companies with market capitalizations of less than $5 billion. A complete list and description of all firm composites is available upon request. The composite benchmark is the Russell 2000® Growth Index. The Russell 2000® Growth Index includes the segment of securities within the Russell 2000® Index with higher price-to-book ratios and higher forecasted growth values. The Russell 2000® Index is an unmanaged index measuring the performance of the small-cap U.S. equity universe. Prior to 2008, the Russell 2000® Index was also shown for general market comparison purposes. The composite minimum value is $100,000.

Calculation Methodology: Valuations and returns are computed and stated in U.S. dollars. Individual portfolios are revalued daily starting 1/1/2009. Prior to that, individual portfolios were revalued monthly and intra-month when large cash flows (defined at 10%) occurred. Gross-of-fee returns are calculated net of transaction costs and gross of management fees. Until 12/31/2007, net performance was calculated by applying the maximum annual management fee of 1% to gross performance on a monthly basis. Starting 1/1/2008, net-of-fee returns are calculated net of actual investment management fees. Both gross-of-fee and net-of-fee returns are calculated gross of all withholding taxes on foreign dividends. Accruals are included in calculations. The dispersion measure is the equal-weighted standard deviation of accounts in the composite for the entire year. Additional information for valuing portfolios, calculating performance and preparing compliant presentations is available upon request.

Performance Disclosures:

- Returns presented within this document are presented for gross-of-fee performance figures, which do not reflect the deduction of investment advisory fees. A client's returns will be reduced by the advisory fees and other expenses incurred in the management of its account. A description of Riverbridge Partners' advisory fees are disclosed on Part 2 of its Form ADV, a copy of which is available upon request.
- Past performance does not guarantee future results.
- Performance results do not reflect the impact of taxes.
- It should not be assumed that account holdings will correspond directly to any such comparative benchmark index.
- Comparative indices may be more or less volatile than Riverbridge portfolios.
- Riverbridge performance results reflect the reinvestment of dividends and other account earnings, and are net of applicable account transaction charges.
